

Interpreter & Translator Certifications by Language

Court and medical certifications are for spoken interpreting. ATA certification is for written translation only, not interpreting.

Language	Federal Court	State Court (NCSC)	NY State Court	CCHI (Medical)	NBCMI (Medical)	ATA (Written Translation)
Spanish	✓	✓	✓	✓	✓	To/From
Albanian			✓
Amharic		✓
Arabic		✓	✓	✓		To/From
Bengali			✓
Bosnian/Serbian/Croatian		✓	✓			Both directions (Croatian only)
Cantonese		✓	✓		✓
Chinese						Into Chinese only*
Danish						Into English only
Dutch						Both directions
Finnish						Not currently offered
French		✓	✓			Both directions
German						Both directions
Greek			✓
Haitian Creole		✓	✓
Hebrew			✓
Hindi			✓
Hmong		✓
Hungarian						Into Hungarian only*
Italian			✓			Both directions
Japanese			✓			Both directions
Khmer		✓
Korean		✓	✓		✓	Both directions
Laotian		✓
Mandarin		✓	✓	✓	✓
Polish			✓			Both directions
Portuguese		✓	✓			Both directions
Punjabi (Eastern)			✓
Romanian						Into Romanian only
Russian		✓	✓		✓	Both directions
Somali		✓
Swedish						Both directions
Tagalog		✓
Turkish		✓
Ukrainian						Both directions
Urdu			✓
Vietnamese		✓	✓		✓
Wolof			✓

*Chinese–into–English and Hungarian–into–English are currently paused by ATA (the exam pairs exist but aren't being administered right now); translating into Chinese and into Hungarian from English remains active. Data current as of August 2026, sourced directly from AOUSC (federal courts), the National Center for State Courts, the NY State Unified Court System, CCHI, NBCMI, and ATA (atanet.org). Court and medical certifications listed here reflect national/state programs and may vary by individual state or jurisdiction.